WELCOME TO THIS MONTH'S NEWSLETTER:

Hi all. Sorry for being late this month on the newsletter... I had business in Kelowna to take care of on the 15th and I've been pretty busy up to now... Thanks to Terry Shupe for jerking my memory and reminding me to get the newsletter out as it's an important one because of the December baking meeting...

For those new members, we bring in either home-made or store-bought goodies to put on the table and folks buy tickets, like the 50/50, and numbers are drawn to see who gets to choose off the table...

This usually brings a LOT of chatter and laughter during the draw...

Enjoy the newsletter...

Steve

FOR SALE: Dave Gilmour

- Dave has hats, crests, etc. for sale. See Dave for purchases. He's going to bring them all in for next meeting.

SALE TABLE: Gary Harker

- Gary told the group that a fellow has had some health issues, and he's getting rid of his tools, while he can. They will be at the back of the room during the coffee break, and I'll be conducting the sale. Anyone interested, come and see what's there and make a sale.

RAISING FUNDS: Warren James

- Warren mentioned that we have a fund-raising meal with wives/husbands, etc. where we can show some items for sale, and raise some funds for the Guild in this fashion. (He has had experience with this from the Coast Guild he belonged to.)
This will take some organizing, and we'll need a few volunteers to pull this off.

NEW BUSINESS: All

- Stu has been investigating different on-line web-design systems and is trying to find out which is the easiest for all concerned. Steve and Stu to meet later in the month to work on this. Steve and Stu have to get together and work on t his.

SHOW & TELL: Dave Agar

- Tom Bundic – Wine stoppers and a surprise. Many different styles and exotic woods in making these stoppers. Then at the end, he shows us the bottle openers that look like a wine stopper.

- Stu Rockwood – Made a crib board for some friends from internet-searched plans. Claims he really got to know his drill press.

- Francis Shuter – Showed some wooden cars, matching his name tag, made of Indian Maple wood.

- Rick Perszon – Showed a rebuilt old-fashioned wood school desk. Bought it for $12.00 and took it all apart, and replaced the seat as he thought the existing seat was unsaveable. Research told him it was from around the 1930s and Dutch Rose style. Beautiful job Rick.

- Judy Swayne – Scroll saw cats puzzle. Great for giving as gifts. Many other different animal designs available.

- Wade Billy – Two wood turned bowls that were very difficult to keep together while turning... These turned out beautiful.

- Vic Hooper – Huge, long piece of tree bark. People always told him his previous pieces were too small.

DEMO -- JUDY SWAYNE – WORKSHARP USAGE

- Judy showed us the difference between her “newer” WorkSharp and the Guild’s “older” version of the same tool.
- Then she began to show how to set it up for different blades and how easy and quick it was to operate.
- Different members did a quick piece on the machines to see just how easy they were to operate and what kind of job they did to the blades. All seemed impressed.

Next Meeting, Dec. 6th, 2017

Remember, this is the baking version of an auction for all members.
Make or buy a dessert of some sort, and bring it in for a table full of goodies.
We'll purchase tickets that match the goody, and then the tickets will be drawn.
Wine should be there, on the table, too.
